Accreditation standards for dental practitioner programs

Effective from 1 January 2021
Preamble

The Australian Dental Council (ADC) / Dental Council (New Zealand) (DC(NZ)) accreditation standards for dental practitioner programs (the Standards) are endorsed by the ADC and approved by the Dental Board of Australia (DBA) — pursuant to the Health Practitioner Regulation National Law Act 2009 (National Law).

Public protection is paramount in the administration of the National Registration and Accreditation Scheme, under which the Accreditation Standards are developed and approved in Australia, in accordance with the National Law.

The Standards help to ensure that only suitably trained and qualified dental practitioners can register to practise in Australia. The Standards apply to all dental education programs that are approved programs that enable graduates to apply for registration as dental practitioners in Australia. The Standards also apply to programs that enable graduates to apply for endorsement of registration for conscious sedation.

The Standards are developed with wide-ranging consultation. This includes the cultural safety Domain, which was developed in consultation with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health leaders.

Each Domain includes a standard statement that articulates the key purpose of the Domain. Each standard statement is supported by multiple criteria, which set out what is expected of an ADC accredited program in order to meet each standard statement. The criteria are not sub-standards that will be individually assessed. When assessing a program, the ADC will have regard for whether each criterion is met, but will take an on-balance view of whether the evidence presented by a program provider clearly demonstrates that a particular Standard is met.

New programs and established programs are assessed against the same accreditation standards, although the assessment may be varied according to the circumstances of the program provider.
The ADC accreditation standards model
Domain one: Public safety

Standard statement: Public safety is assured.
